

accompany	-to go along with; to be together -to play a musical instrument for or with beneficial	-being of use; helpful; favorable captive	-one that is held prisoner -unable to escape or get away captivity	-state of being held against one's will; loss of freedom convenient	-suitable for one's needs; making life easier or more comfortable convenience	-anything that makes life easier or more comfortable ecstasy	-a strong feeling of emotion, especially joy ecstatic	-full of or causing ecstasy expanse	-a wide, open area or surface; a stretch expedition	<ul style="list-style-type: none">-a long journey by a group to explore or do battle-a group that makes such a journey inept	<ul style="list-style-type: none">-clumsily or awkwardly expressed; not suitable for the occasion-lacking in skill or ability interpret	<ul style="list-style-type: none">-to translate into another language-to explain the meaning of-to understand in one's own way invaluable	<ul style="list-style-type: none">-too valuable to measure; priceless linger	<ul style="list-style-type: none">-to be slow in leaving or going away retrieve	<ul style="list-style-type: none">-to get back; to recover-to find and bring back skirmish	<ul style="list-style-type: none">-a minor fight or battle-to take part in such a fight supplement	<ul style="list-style-type: none">-something added to make up for something missing-to add to territory	<ul style="list-style-type: none">-a particular area of land-a land area under control of a particular group or government

