A PEEK AT THE WEEK

Reading: On Friday, the students completed the first read of their selected independent text. Today, the students completed their close read along and completed text questions for their text. They have a test over this text tomorrow.

On Wednesday, we will begin the study guide for all of unit 3. Just like the last unit study guide, the first page will ask the students to define the literary terms & non-fiction elements we discussed throughout the unit. The pages that follow will offer the students a chance to practice all of the skills learned throughout the unit. The students will have 2 days in class to work on it. Whatever is not finished on Thursday, will be homework for the weekend. The entire packet is due on Tuesday, February 18.

Wordly Wise: We will be starting unit 12 in our Wordly Wise books this week. Due to the institute day on Friday, word maps will be due on Thursday this week.

L.Arts: Today we discussed the difference between adjectives and adverbs. The students practiced identifying which are being used in sentences today along with some IXL practice. Tomorrow the students will complete their final adverb competition before we move on to Preposition Peak. On Wednesday, we will move on to prepositions. Prepositions should be a review from last year. Get ready to sing again, Kiddos!
