

Stuttering Related Web Pages

Many sites on the Internet related to stuttering include products that various companies are selling to "cure" stuttering. This list is compiled of non "retail" sites that provide information and links to further information for the user. In addition, free services (such as Friends pen pals) are listed below.

Site	Description
http://www.stuttersfa.org/	The Stuttering Foundation of America, the first nonprofit, charitable association in the world to concern itself with the prevention and improved treatment of stuttering, distributes over a million publications to the public and professionals each year.
http://www.nsastutter.org/ This is a great site for teens wanting to connect with others and read information written by young teens/children that stutter!	Over three million American children, teenagers, and adults share the daily challenge of leading vital and productive lives with a chronic stuttering disorder. Contact the NSA About Joining the NSA Teen Chat Room http://www.mankato.msus.edu/dept/comdis/kuster/stutter.html	A million links developed by a speech pathologist for both persons who stutter and family members.
http://www.stuttering.com/homepag.htm	The National Center For Stuttering was established in 1976. Its purposes are: 1. To provide up-to-date factual information about stuttering . 2. To provide a National Stutterer's Hotline .
http://www.stuttering.net/	Stuttering.net provides information about stuttering and will guide you in your quest for fluency.
http://kidshealth.org/kid/feeling/emotion/stuttering.html	Kids dealing with the emotions related to stuttering http://www.stutteringchat.co.uk/	Stuttering Chat is a Worldwide meeting place and resource for people who stutter.
http://www.asha.org/	ASHA is the professional, scientific, and credentialing association for more than 97,000 speech-language pathologists, audiologists, and speech, language, and hearing scientists in the United States and internationally.
http://www.friendshipcenter.com	FriendshipCenter is a great place to find e-mail pals from around the world who stutter. You can also find people with other disabilities. This site by Thomas David Kehoe is probably the best site on the web for contacting new friends who stutter.
http://www.friendswhostutter.org/	FRIENDS is a national organization created to provide a network of love and support for children and teenagers who stutter, their families, and the professionals who work with them.
http://www.mankato.msus.edu/dept/comdis/kuster/kids/kids.html	Just for Kids is the page from Judy Kusters SHP. A great fun place for kids to find information and friends who stutter.
http://www.mankato.msus.edu/dept/comdis/kuster/kids/keypals.html	Key Pals is for children who stutter, who want to email privately to each other about anything they are interested in, including their stuttering. Becoming a Key Pal may be helpful for children learning to cope with stuttering, working on therapy, or simply trying to find new friends who understand what it is like to stutter.
http://hometown.aol.com/wdparry/index.htm	Billy Parry's stuttering links
http://www.nidcd.nih.gov/health/voice/stutter.asp	National Institute on Deafness and Other Communication Disorders
http://www.quia.com/cb/2807.html	A stuttering awareness online game