Lesson 4  Review Exercise

1. The wounds of battle are long-lived. Long after a war is ended, those who fought are often ____________ by memories of death and destruction.

2. His family had once been Liang-Po's great joy. After his return, the presence of his family was ____________ to him.

3. Soo-Nyung saw a great change in her husband. His former ____________ was gone, and in its place was a grim surliness.

4. There was no doubt what had caused the change. Soo-Nyung knew that the war had had a ____________ effect on her husband.

5. Like a loyal wife, Soo-Nyung would beg her husband to join her and the children. All her ____________ were ignored by him.

6. Soo-Nyung did everything she could to cheer up her husband. When all her efforts failed, she grew more and more ____________.

7. Soo-Nyung would try to start a conversation with her husband. An ____________ silence was all she got for her efforts.

8. Soo-Nyung knew that it was useless to argue with her husband. The more she pleaded with him, the more ____________ he became.
9. Soo-Nyung went to the herbalist with one hope. Her greatest wish was that her husband would lose his ______________ ways and rejoin his family.

10. The herbalist that Soo-Nyung visited was very wise. She saw what was ______________ with Soo-Nyung’s marriage and knew what the cure was.

11. How could Soo-Nyung steal a whisker from the tiger? It seemed impossible, but love of her husband ______________ her to try.

12. The tiger’s roar up close must have been deafening. It ______________ through the forest and terrified Soo-Nyung.

13. Soo-Nyung got as close as she dared to the tiger. With ______________ fingers, she reached out and plucked a whisker.

14. Soo-Nyung understood what the herbalist was trying to tell her. She who had made friends with a tiger need not fear a husband’s ______________.

15. The herbalist had more to offer than just herbal remedies made into powders and potions. The herbalist was also a ______________.